THE CLOCK WINDER.

A NEW YORK MAN WHO MAKES HIS LIVING AT THIS CALLING

Widens of Some of His Patrons Whose Timepieces He Looks After—Mystery of the Clock That Would Not Go on Friday.
Twenty Clocks in One House.

Clock winding seems a simple enough task to be performed by owners for their respective timepieces, but there are many people who find it sufficiently burdensome to make them delegate it to some one else. Hence has arisen the profession of clock winder, which as yet claims probably fewer members than any other calling in the city. For some years jewelers have attended to the repairing of clocks which they sold and have even looked after the winding where this was especially desired, but they never tried to obtain this kind of business, and it was done merely as an accommodation to their customers. Now there is at least one man in New York—there may be more, though not many—whose only occupation is the winding, regulating and occasional cleaning of clocks for numerous families. He makes daily rounds so as to cover his entire route, but he never visits the same house oftener than once a week. On that day his coming is expected, and he has free access to all the rooms, whether they are occupied at the time or not. Through the various halls and apartments he goes, from the top of the house to the bottom, winding the clocks and giving a touch here and there to a regulator where he finds it necessary. Of course he does not pay any attention to the little nickel alarm clocks, which run for only one day. His care, being given weekly, is spent upon the eight day clocks of more expensive design and workmanship.

The clock winder whom The Tribune reporter saw had several stories to tell about the parent of his occupation. "Some people are very particular about the striking of their clocks," he said. "They will ask me if I can't arrange to have all the timepieces in the house strike together. Now, as a general thing, that is an impossibility, and I'll tell you why. Some clocks are arranged to strike just half a minute before the hour, some for a quarter of a minute before, some for a few seconds after the hour and so on. You see if I fixed them so that they would strike together they would not be exactly together in point of actual time, which is more important. In one house on my list the family owns 20 clocks. Of these I suppose 5 or 6—perhaps more—strike in unison, and the others all within a minute. My orders in this house are to have all the clocks except one at precisely the correct time. This odd one is the timepiece in the bedroom of the mistress of the house, and she wishes it kept three minutes fast. I think that is the only instance among my customers of anybody who wants a clock perpetually fast, and I am very certain there is no one who asks me to keep one slow.

"When I undertake the care of the clocks in a house, nobody else is allowed to touch them, and the servants in particular have orders never to move or interfere with them in any way. Sometimes this is done accidentally, and it is hard to find out how the clock has been injured. A few months ago I lost one of my best houses because there was one clock which I could not seem to put in proper order. I would take it away, clean it thoroughly and look to every smallest part of the mechanism. Apparently it made no difference. The clock positively refused to run right. Finally I gave it up, and that family had a mighty poor opinion of my abilities as a clock repairer.

"Some weeks after that I came across a clock in another house which acted in exactly the same way. I was puzzled for awhile. Finally I noticed that it always stopped on Fridays. That was queerer than ever, until by chance I hit upon the solution of the mystery. The servant, while dusting the room on that day, was in the habit of passing her cloth along the mantle under the clock. This would have made no difference with many timepieces, but this one had an open bottom, through which the tip of the pendulum projected. The dusting cloth just touched this enough to stop it. The girl did not know what she had done, and thus the family were mystified anew each week by finding that the clock would not go on Friday.

"I clean all my clocks regularly once in two years, and in that way keep them in proper running order. Most people think that it is just as well to let a clock run until it stops, finally clogged up with dirt, but that isn't so. By that time it may be so bad that it will be impossible ever to make it run as accurately as it did before.

"I am usually paid by the month to take entire charge of all the clocks in a house, it being understood that I make weekly visits. Sometimes, though, I am employed by the year. In the case of the house I was telling you of, where they have 20 clocks, they pay me $100 annually for the work. It takes a good deal of my time in the course of 12 months, and I don't fill my pockets as fast as some folks seem to think I ought," concluded the clock winder with a smile.—New York Tribune

Scarcity of Material.

"The Rev. Mr. Jingle is running his mission in regular vaudeville style. Had a pie eating match there on Monday, and last night he offered a prize to the mother who would wash the greatest number of boys' faces in the shortest time. It was a dead failure. "What was the trouble?" "Couldn't get the boys."—Cleveland Plain Dealer

Antenupital Antics.

"Do you think they are married?" "No, they're only engaged. She looked pleased when he burned her hand with his lighted cigar."—Detroit Free Press.

Thousands of men in every walk of life all over the world are playing a desperate game with Death for an opponent. They are playing with an opponent who has every advantage, and the outcome of the game is as certain as Death. The man in any walk of life, who is too hard-worked, too busy, to take care of his health has only himself to blame when the final break-down comes. It is easy to keep health while one has it, but uphill work to win it back when it is lost. A man neglects a slight indigestion. Then his appetite gets poor. That's a trifle and he pays no attention to it. Then he complains of headaches and it is hard to work or think. His sleep becomes restless and he only gets troubled spells of it. He gets nervous and irritable. Everything goes wrong both at home and at business. He persists in paying no attention to his health. Then some day he breaks down. The doctor says nervous prostration or consumption as the case may be. He has been playing a game with death and has been checkmated at the weakest point.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is an unfailing cure for all disorders of the digestion, and the deadly maladies that follow in their train. It is the great blood maker, flesh-builder, and nerve tonic. It cures 95 percent of all cases of consumption. It is an unfailing remedy for nervous prostration and exhaustion. Thousands of men have testified to their recovery under its use, after all other remedies had failed. All druggists sell it. Do not deal with a druggist who offers you a substitute for it. It is only dishonest but willing to sacrifice your health and possibly your life for a few added pennies of profit.

A clear complexion. Any one can have it who keeps the blood pure. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them.

A SOMEWHAT HYPOCRITICAL
CRY.

The cry of "Nevada for Nevadans," which is now being resounded by several newspapers in this State, is tinted more or less with hypocrisy. It was raised by the Republicans in the last campaign for some purpose not generally known, but the moment the President appointed a non-resident to an important Federal position, which several respectable citizens of the State were anxious to fill, the Republican howlers for home rule subsided lest they might offend the appointing power and thereby lessen their own chances of getting a slice of Federal pie.

The plain, undeniable truth is, that many of those who shout home rule and "Nevada for Nevadans" do not mean what they say, and do what they can to drive people from the State. Some of those make-believe home rulers send out of the State for almost everything they wear and eat if they can save a few dollars by doing so. There are merchants and professional men, who are depending upon Nevadans for a livelihood and yet send out of the State for the clothes which they wear, much of the food which they eat and the furniture for their homes, and then complain because business is dull in the State.

Men are clamoring for home rule for Nevada who use their reasoning powers from one year's end to another and their ballots at elections to kill one of the great industries of Nevada and drive everybody from the State except cattle and sheep herders and then shout "Nevada for Nevadans."

Now it appears, that the receipts given taxpayers in several counties in the State are printed in San Francisco, Portland, Chicago or somewhere else outside the confines of Nevada. That is "the most unkindest cut of all." A State law provides that all supplies and goods purchased for the State or any county in the State, shall be purchased of resident merchants and business men of the State, whenever said merchants and business men are ready to supply such supplies and goods at an advance of not more than ten per cent over San Francisco prices, freight added. This act seems to be a dead letter in some of the counties, though it is adhered to by nearly all who purchase supplies for State institutions. There is no penalty prescribed for a violation of the law, but those who do violate it should be branded for defeat if they should be candidates for re-election.

It is idle to talk about home rule unless those in positions to encourage home industries are forced by public opinion to patronize them. If we send out of the State for what we can purchase at home, at a slight advance in price, and our officials violate the law with impunity, a railroad freight office and an express office are all that is required anywhere in the State. There will be no necessity for factories or stores and we can import our officers as well as our supplies.

CAN'T DO IT.

The telegraphic accounts of the warm welcome extended by President Diaz and his people to W. J. Bryan indicate that they think a lot of our eloquent silver champion down there. Wonder if he couldn't spare him to them until after the next election?—San Francisco Bulletin.

No, the people of the United States seem to want Bryan for the next President. Hanna's $16,000,000 sack cannot prevent his election next time.

The Ogden Standard congratulates the people of Northern Utah on the prospect of building the great sugar plant. The $250,000 has been subscribed. It was a hard pull to raise it, but our people secured the money and the factory will be built. That is enough satisfaction and glory for one day. The people did well.

The Health and Police Committee of the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco have refused to grant any more permits for pugilistic exhibitions. This disposes of the Griffo-Lavigne, Hawkins-Connelly and Smith-Kelley matches.

Charles Zanoli of New York has pleaded guilty to the charge of defrauding the insurance companies by collecting policies on the lives of four wives, a daughter and an employee. He claims, however, that the deaths of all occurred from natural causes.

Lenox Winslow, who sued the Knights of Macabees at Kansas City for $25,000 for permanent injury to one of his kidneys during the initiatory ceremonies of the order, was awarded $10,000 damages by the Circuit Court.

Mother McKinley has survived the stroke of paralysis nine days and although the physicians have no hope that she will rally and expect her death at any time, they consider her case a remarkable one.

The Cunard steamer Etruria rescued the crew of the British Steamer Millfield which had foundered off of Fastnet on the English coast and was sinking. The crew of the Millfield was exhausted when rescued.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

The Apaches are on the warpath in South-eastern Arizona. Troops from Fort Grant, Arizona, have been dispatched to the scene with orders to arrest the Indians.

The steamer Cleveland, which sailed for Seattle from San Francisco last Saturday, is supposed to have been disabled and making for her destination under sail. She is now three days overdue. A vessel answering her description was sighted of Cape Lookout on Thursday.

Senator Hanna's health has improved. He says he has been suffering from influenza and not bronchial trouble as has been reported. His physicians have told him that he is not entirely out of danger and he intends consulting a specialist. He expresses a belief that the Hawaiian Islands will be annexed by a joint resolution of both houses of Congress.

Dellah Falls and William Kern, aged respectively 20 and 18 years, were sentenced at Waverly, Iowa to twenty and twelve years in the penitentiary for the murder of the boy's father. The girl was infatuated with the boy and wanted to marry him, but his father objected, so the girl planned to kill the old man and persuaded his son to assist her. She wrote the old man a note asking him to meet her in the woods and when he arrived she shot him and with the aid of the son burned the body.

Mrs. McKinley, the President's mother, remained in much the same condition yesterday that she has been in for the past two days, with evidences of a gradual weakening. She had two slight-sinking spells, but rallied from both and in the afternoon was able to take a little nourishment. The President remains at the bedside constantly, having telegraphic service direct with the White House. The wire is held for his exclusive use. Dr. Phillips gives no encouragement save that she may survive several hours or a day or two, but that she is quietly and gradually passing away.

Grand Duchess Olga, the little daughter of the Czar of Russia, is said to be the richest baby in the world. The week she was born $5,000,000, invested in English and French securities, was settled upon her.

A GOOD PLAY.

"Tennessee's Pardner" to Appear at McKisick's Opera House.

After the unnatural plays that have misrepresented the west and its life for so many years, "Tennessee's Pardner" will be refreshingly welcome. It is not a dramatization of Bret Harle's pathetic story. The author has borrowed the title, and the feeling of the story is strongly impressed upon the play, but there the resemblance ends, except in the types of character. "Tennessee's Pardner" was a great financial and artistic success last season. It is not necessary to precede the coming of this play with flattering notices. The names of the people entering into the personnel of the company, speaking the author's lines and living his quaint characters, will justify the filling of the opera house when the play is produced next Saturday night. Barely is it the privilege of Reno audiences to witness the interpretation of such a play by such a company of players. James M. Brophy, who has done excellent service in the melodramatic field, will appear in the character of Swan; Percy Plunkett, one of America's greatest character comedians, will play the chronic liar, "Gee-whiliker Hays"; Estlin Williams will be seen in her original role of "Nettie Bice"; and Jane Corcoran will be the "Tennessee." Frank M. Kelly, Annie Mortimer, O. H. Barr, Walter Ryder and Marion Bohannon, and others of equal note, make up the balance of this strong organization.

District Court.

The District Court was occupied all of yesterday with the McGurn vs. the Sheriff of Washoe County case. The arguments of attorneys were concluded and the case submitted to the jury late in the afternoon. After some delay the jury returned a verdict in favor of plaintiff. The case is somewhat complicated and it is hard to tell just who got the best of it. McGurn sued the Sheriff for the value of a wagon and merchandise estimated to be worth $900 and for $5,000 damages. The goods had been sold and were out of the defendant's hands, but the evidence showed that the wagon had been bid in at the sale by H. H. Beck, one of the defendants, and was still in his possession. On this point the jury decided for the plaintiff and that his wagon or the value of it should be returned. As the good had been sold and was out of the defendant's hands and could not be recovered a suit would have to be brought by plaintiff for their value. No damages were allowed and the plaintiff was ordered to pay costs.

Dinner and Social at Mrs. D. B. Boyd's.

The Aid Society of the M. E. Church gave a dinner and social at the residence of Mrs. D. B. Boyd on Friday afternoon and evening. The attendance was large and all enjoyed not only the excellent dinner, but the musical program that followed the dinner.

The University Mandolin Club was a feature of the entertainment, as was also the lady quartette composed of the Misses Stanley, Mrs. Coffin and Mrs. Lee.

A Trust Representing a Capital of $30,000,000.

The three largest cracker and biscuit factories in the United States have combined and will control the trade. The smaller factories will have no chance to compete with the combination. The three corporations are the New York Biscuit Company, American Biscuit and Manufacturing Company of Chicago, and the U. S. Biscuit Company of Pittsburg.

Good Reason for Dodging.

It is said that a woman preacher in an Eastern church, during the delivery of a strong sermon on purity, suddenly drew back the hymn book and said she would hit the man who was untrue to his wife, and the story goes, every man in the front pew dodged. Was this a confession of guilt? Certainly not. Those men were perfectly aware of the reckless uncertainty with which a woman throws a rock.—E.C.

S. J. Hodgkinson.

Read Hodgkinson's new ad in today's issue. He is unpacking a carefully selected stock of Christmas novelties, such as toilet, shaving and perfume sets, besides many pretty things just suitable for a remembrance and at comparatively a small price. Call at his store and watch his window displays for the next two weeks.

Election of Officers.

At a regular session of Reno Lodge No. 13 F. and A. M. held last evening, the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing term: S. Somerville, Master; Nelson Coffin, S. W.; Fred Stevens, J. W.; T. K. Hymers, Treas.; S. M. Jamison, Sec'y.

COAL AND IRON.

The Important Relationship of These Two Valuable Minerals.

Statistics show that, whereas Great Britain in 1840 produced 75 per cent of the world's supply of coal, at the present time it produces only 34 per cent. Atlantic liners no longer carry coal from Great Britain for the return journey. They now take in American coal, and no less than 1,600,000 tons of American coal were thus consumed in 1895. The condition of the iron manufacturing industries has always exercised a most important influence on the production of coal, so that a large demand for iron draws with it a large demand for mineral fuel. During the last 25 years the world's production of pig iron has increased from 13,000,000 to 35,000,000 tons, but the share taken by Great Britain has fallen from 48.8 per cent to 29 per cent, while that of the United States has increased from 14.1 per cent to 26.2 per cent, that of Germany from 11.4 per cent to 21.4 per cent, and that of Russia from 8 per cent to 4.7 per cent. Indeed, iron is now being imported from the United States into this country, and, incredible as it may seem, the railway station at Middleborough, the center of the iron trade, is built of iron brought from Belgium. Surely, then, the author of "Our Coal Resources at the Close of the Nineteenth Century" is hardly right in thinking that British coal and iron still hold their own. He argues that other countries of Europe are exhausting their coal supplies just as Great Britain is, yet the figures he gives show that Germany has in reserve, within a depth of 8,000 feet, 100,000,000,000 tons of coal as compared with our (England's) 81,688,000,000 tons within a depth of 4,000 feet. And this estimate does not include brown coal, of which Germany raises 25,000,000 tons annually.—Nature.

CHEMICAL FIRE ENGINES.

They Have Done Much to Reduce the Loss From Water at Fires.

Mr. Charles T. Hill writes of "The Fire Patrol" in St. Nicholas, the final paper in his series on the New York fire department. Mr. Hill says:

The "chemical engine," used considerably in the fire departments of several cities, has aided materially in lowering the loss by water at small fires. The preparation carried in the tanks of these engines has a double advantage—not only does it extinguish a large body of fire with the use of a small amount of water, but the liquid itself evaporates quickly, leaving very little "drip" in the apartments or floors underneath the fire.

The tanks of these engines are charged with a solution of bicarbonate of soda (baking soda) and water, with a small cylinder of sulphuric acid suspended at the top. When the tank is inverted, this acid is emptied into the soda and water, and the mixture at once generates carbonic acid gas at a great pressure. Charging the liquid with this gas gives it the necessary pressure to drive it a considerable distance.

The hose is coiled around a reel on top of the engine, and always connected with the tanks, so when the firemen arrive at a fire all they have to do is to run off as much hose as they need, dash up stairs with the line, give the order to "dump" one of the tanks (there are two, carrying 60 gallons each), and they are all ready to go to work. The chemical engine has extinguished more than 25 fires of considerable size since it has been in service in the New York department, a little over a year. It is stationed on the upper west side of the city, where there are a great number of dwellings and flats, and it has aided materially in keeping down the fire losses in that part of New York.

Leipzig.

Mrs. Isabel C. Barrows, in an article in the New York Independent on "Plain Life and High Thought" as exemplified at Leipzig university, says:

Leipzig is one of the great flower marts of Europe. It is a joyous sight to go through the early morning market and see the flowers of all kinds in masses beyond conception. There is no student so poor that he cannot add to the beauty of his room the charm of a flower when for 2 cents he can have a big bunch of mignonette. This very morning the expenditure of 24 cents gave one literally an armful of mignonette, large and fragrant; forget-me-nots, bluer than the sky of rather gray Leipzig; great golden buttercups like those that grow on the upland meadows of the Rigi; kornblumen, the old emperor's favorite flower, and lilies of the valley in profusion. Plain living, amid flowers, with music, nature and friendship at command, may easily lead to high thinking, and the student who is here to strive for acquirement of truth may well scorn the trappings of wealth, since wealth is not needed to command the highest and best.

The friends of the Hawaiian annexation question at Washington have definitely decided to hold an executive session for the consideration of the question. It now looks as if it would be impossible to secure the required two-thirds vote to ratify the treaty and that it should be considered before the joint resolution scheme is resorted to for the vote in the Senate on the ratification will determine whether or not the resolution would receive a majority vote, but to be effective it must also pass the House.

BREVITIES.

Holidays are approaching. Many articles needed, can be bought very cheap at Emrich's.

W. D. Harden of Steamboat, will visit his mother at Arroyo Grande, California and will probably spend the winter there.

Deputy Sheriff Hanley returned from Gold Creek yesterday afternoon. He reports but seven white men and women and four Chinamen now in the camp.—Independent.

Clam Chowder at Thyges' hot lunch to-day. Upson's tamales at any hour for 15 cents. Mot's sweet apple cider and fresh bay oyster cook-tails made to order or for family use.

It is said by those intimate with Queen Victoria, that she never allows herself to look bored. Whoever may be introduced to her has her very best attention for the time being.

Wm. Pinniger has a large variety of pretty toilet sets also a large stock of Christmas novelties. Call at his store and Mr. Pinniger will be pleased to suggest something that will just suit your wants.

Charley Keith writes from Gold Creek that he and Mr. Sain are packing the plant of the Gold Creek News preparatory to moving it to Mountain City. Mr. Sain seems to have lost confidence in the fabulous riches of the Gold Creek placers.—Independent.

Just to see what he could do R. H. Lyons of Osage, Kan., stocked a waste pool on his farm with fish some ten years ago, and he now has a chain of fish ponds on his place for which he can take $15,000 any day, all stocked from the original waste pool experiment.

E. S. Holden writes from Dawson City to a friend in Santa Rosa that he is paying $300 a month for board in a private family in the Klondike metropolis. This seemingly indicates that when a man up that way says that his wages are $10 a day he is merely expressing in a polite way the fact that he is working for his board.

The Enterprise says the tax receipts for Storey county were printed at Portland, Oregon. The law requires that such supplies shall be purchased by the County Commissioners, but it prohibits the Commissioners from going outside the State for such supplies if they can be had at home at an advance of not more than ten per cent over San Francisco prices.

The Palace Dry Goods and Carpet House has the holiday announcement in this issue. Though it seems that Christmas is far off, it is a good idea for intending present givers to look about to see where they can find the best selection of such articles, which will be pretty and useful at the same time. The Palace is the place to find them—a pretty dress, an up-to-date jacket or cape, kid gloves, that are guaranteed, handkerchiefs, in immense assortment, fans, hosiery, underwear, blankets and comforters, or a nice set of table linen and napkins to match, umbrellas and ever so many other useful, as well as ornamental articles. Just call and see for yourselves.

Every Particle Put to Use—Only Wasteful Breath Lost.

In an article on the "Wonders of the World's Waste," William George Jordan, in the Ladies' Home Journal, details how science at the present day utilizes the ox. "Not many years ago,"
he says, "when an ox was slaughtered 40 per cent of the animal was wasted.
At the present time 'nothing is lost but its dying breath.' As but one third of the weight of the animal consists of products that can be eaten, the question of utilizing the waste is a serious one.
The blood is used in refining sugar and in sizing paper or manufacturing doorknobs and buttons. The hide goes to the tanner; horns and hoofs are transformed into combs and buttons; thigh bones, worth $80 per ton, are cut into handles for clothesbrushes; fore leg bones sell for $30 per ton for collar buttons, parasol handles and jewelry; the water in which bones are boiled is reduced to glue; the dust from sawing
the bones is food for cattle and poultry;
the smallest bones are made into bone-black. Each foot yields a quarter of a pint of neatfoot oil; the tail goes to the soup," while the brush of hair at the end of the tail is sold to the mattress maker. The choicer parts of the fat make the basis of butterine; the intestines are used for sausage casings or bought by gold beaters. The undigested food in the stomach, which formerly cost the packers of Chicago $30,000 a year to remove and destroy, is now made into paper. There are but a few of the products of abattoirs. All scraps unfit for any other use find welcome in the glue pot, or they do missionary work for farmers by acting as fertilizers."

Fa's Prayers.

Once upon a time sickness came to the family of the poorly paid pastor of a country church, says the Omaha World-Herald. It was winter, and the pastor was in financial straits. A number of his flock decided to meet at his house and offer prayers for the speedy recovery of the sick ones and for matterial blessings upon the pastor's family. While one of the deacons was offering a fervent prayer for blessings upon the pastor's household there was a loud knock at the door. When the door was opened, a stout farmer boy was seen,
wrapped up comfortably.

"What do you want, boy?" asked one of the elders.

"I've brought pa's prayers," replied
the boy.

"Brought pa's prayers? What do you mean?"

"Yep, brought his prayers, an they're out in the wagon. Just help me, an we'll get 'em in."

Investigation disclosed the fact that
"pa's prayers" consisted of potatoes,
flour, bacon, cornmeal, turnips, apples,
warm clothing and a lot of jellies for the sick ones. The prayer meeting adjourned in short order.

the Court.
FRANK J. EBER,
Administrator of said estate,
Dated, Dec. 9, 1897.

SOME ONE MIGHT HEAR.

I breathed my vows one evening
Unto my love so fair.
Her tresses brushed my forehead
As I leaned above her chair.
I saw her burning blushes
As I whispered in her ear.
But, oh, she would not answer!
Said she, "Some one might hear!"

I grasped her hand and pressed it
All fondly in mine own.
And told her that her image
Was set on memory's throne.
I vowed I loved her truly,
That she to me was dear.
But, oh, no answer got I Save she feared, "some one might hear!"

I scouted at her caution.
My breath did fan her cheek.
I implored in fervent language
That she to me would speak.
I saw her with emotion
Wipe from her eye a tear,
Yet still she softly murmured,
"Suppose some one should hear?"

My hopes began to vanish.
My tears commenced to flow,
And to hide from her my weakness
I turned away to go.
When I heard a trembling whisper
Fall softly on my ear,
"Oh, yes, I fondly love you,
And I care not who may hear!"
—Finley Johnson in New York Ledger.

WHAT SHE WANTED.

The Huckerster Was Called Up Four Flights
to Hear Something.

A huckerster was going along an east side street early one morning making the welkin ring with his singsong of "Po-ta-t-o-o-o-es, toma-t-o-o-es! Nice sweet cooking apples!" As he drove slowly along he lifted his eyes to the windows on either side of the street.

Suddenly there appeared a woman's head at a window in one of the top flats.
The huckerster pulled in his horse and raised his ear to listen to the commands he expected would be coming, but the woman had not the lung power to make her voice carry so far, and the huckerster called out, "How's that?"

Again the woman called, and her voice came down faintly. The huckerster didn't know whether she wanted potatoes, cantaloupes, tomatoes or corn. So he marked the fourth flat from the corner and motioned that he would drive around to the alley. The woman was there waiting for him and called out once more, but he couldn't understand her.

Gathering a handful of samples of various vegetables from his stock, he mounted four flights of back stairs and arrived at the top panting. The woman stood there awaiting his coming.

"Couldn't hear what you said, lady,"
said the huckerster. "So I brought up some of each kind an you can pick what you want an I'll go down an get 'em."

"Want?" said the woman, who was in a towering rage. "Want? I don't want none of your old vegetables. What I want is for you to stop hollerin
in front of this house, or I'll have you arrested. You're enough to wake the dead. My husband works all night, and he's just got into a little doze, and goodness knows it's hard enough to sleep daytimes without a fiend like you standing in front of the house yelling like a Comanche. Now you get out of here and don't you holler no more or I'll get the police after you!"

The huckerster stood with set eyes and drooping jaw, the perspiration dropping off his chin, while this harangue was going on. When she had finished, he came out of his trance and said:

"Is that what you called me all the way up here for? Send yer p'lice, lady! I'm goin to yell to beat the band." And he went down the stairs and out of the alley and up the street
in front of the house with four extra links let out of his throat, and if any person slept on that street it was under the influence of opiates.—Kansas City

Tom-making.

A great many toys are now made in this country, including many mechanical devices. Many toys are still imported. Such things as woolly sheep and dogs, now as highly prized by children as ever, come from Germany, as do the skin covered horses. They could be made here, but they can be produced cheaper abroad.

As a rule, whatever can be made by machinery is made here, while toys
made by hand are mostly imported.
The minute a thing is brought within the reach of machinery American manufacturers can pay their higher prices
for labor and still beat the world.
With the low prices of labor in foreign countries handmade productions can be made cheaper in them. As a result of this there are toys of some kinds which in their completed state are partly American and partly foreign. Among these are toy vehicles with horses attached. The vehicles and everything in and about them may be the product of American machinery, while the horse standing between the shafts may be from Germany.—New York Sun.

Mr. Goodfellow's Generosity.

Mrs. Cloesman—My dear, what a pardon that husband of yours! I never meet him in the car but he insists upon paying my fare, and if there is a party of us he pays for every one, men and all. So generous! Nothing will prevent him.

Mrs. Goodfellow (with a sigh)—No, nothing will prevent him, even if it takes all my housekeeping money and the money I need for a new gown.

Testing His Condition.

"Your wife is literary, isn't she?"
"I should say so. When I come home late at night, she makes me say, 'Review of Reviews,' five times, as fast as I can get it off."—Chicago Record.

Too Weak to Hold It.

Charles—Uncle, I want you to try this lunbarger. It was imported all the way from Germany, each pound carefully wrapped in tinfoil.

Uncle Josh—Gosh! Air you sure they didn't have to do it up in b'iler iron?

"Oh George! I don't know what to do, I'm sure. Pa says he will never consent to my marrying a man as extravagant as you are. He says you never chew anything but that expensive Piper Heidsieck Tobacco."

"Expensive? Why, the old man's behind the times. The size of the plug has been increased 40 per cent. Piper Hei-dsieck is really the cheapest tobacco on the market."
